SEASON FOR NONVIOLENCE

JANUARY 30 - APRIL 4

"There is no hope for the aching world except through the narrow and straight path of nonviolence."
-- Mohandas K. Gandhi

Nonviolence is both a philosophy and a strategy that is based on striving to attain social or political change without the use of violence. It does not advocate passively accepting an unjust situation. Instead, nonviolence presents techniques to bring about change without the use of force. Civil disobedience and nonviolent resistance are two powerful tools of those who practice nonviolence. Nonviolent movements have used many specific techniques such as protests, pickets, petitions, vigils, hunger strikes, sit-ins, tax and draft refusal, blockades and many other methods.

Mahatma Gandhi and Martin Luther King, Jr. are two of the most inspiring leaders who utilized nonviolent methods to successfully lead movements for change. In 1997, to commemorate the 50th and 30th memorial anniversaries of these great leaders, A Season for Nonviolence was organized from January 30 to April 4.

Since then, each year this global grassroots campaign has continued to commemorate their legacies and raise awareness about the healing and transforming power of nonviolence. The Season For Nonviolence has become an important educational and media opportunity to bring communities together, empowering them to envision and help create a nonviolent world, one heart and one day at a time.

Throughout the 64-day campaign, events and activities for peace and nonviolence take place all around the world, highlighting existing peacebuilding initiatives, and inspiring new year-round activities for a more peaceful, nonviolent, just and sustainable world.

"At the center of non-violence stands the principle of love."

"If the Gandhian moment is to be realized, then it must encompass both concerns with the violence of weapons and the violence of inequitable structures of domination and exploitation. Perhaps, unwittingly, the visibility of this violence due to the globalization of media coverage, especially TV, will hasten the process by which the peoples of the world sick from violence and the suffering entailed, will hasten the awakening of conscience and commitment needed to carry forward the struggle for a nonviolent world order. This is as much as we can hope for at present, but such a hope will certainly prove vain if we do not also act to the fullness of our individual and collective capacities to rid the world of war and violence." -- Richard Falk

"...there are more and more people who define themselves as global citizens, who know that life is intimately interconnected, and that we can never be fully human whilst others continue to suffer, and who know that love, justice and nonviolence is the very essence of life. And what gives me hope is the very many different ways in which ordinary people are taking responsibility. They are creating the changes needed to pass beyond war and injustice, control and dominance and towards a free, just, loving, and diverse world." -- Angie Zelter

"The strike, the boycott, the refusal to serve, the ability to paralyze the functioning of a complex social structure-these remain potent weapons against the most fearsome state or corporate power."

"I take four generations to recover from every act of violence." — Rebecca Adamson		"...regardless of how complicated the problems might appear, it is possible to work through them and find solutions that are mutually satisfactory to every stakeholder in the problem. Most of the problems in the world are caused by us and therefore we have the capacity and the obligation to combat them." — Rebecca Adamson		"That's all nonviolence is: organized love." — Joan Baez		"The world contains those who take us arms to defend their causes and calls on them to use nonviolent means to change their government. But when a person chooses the nonviolent path, it is all too easy to feel that we are simply giving up our freedom." — Joan Baez		"We must look towards societies that set a high value on nonviolent protest and non-cooperative action, and therefore have conflicts by nonviolent means. We can see how child rearing patterns promote personal nurturing and behavior." — Ellen Bourdick

"Non-violence is not idealistic. It's not for the faint or weak. Non-violence is hard work. It is the willingness to sacrifice. It is the willingness to die." — Cesar Chavez		"Non-violence is not idealistic. It's not for the faint or weak. Non-violence is hard work. It is the willingness to sacrifice. It is the willingness to die." — Cesar Chavez		"The main goal of the future is to stop violence. The world is dedicated to it." — Bill Doby		"I think the only choice that will enable us to hold to our values... is one that elevates the concept of nonviolence, and through a concept similar to the nonviolent 'training behavior' that is appropriate." — Barbara Darling		"We envision a non-violent world where human security is the basis of our non-violent society. People have the right to a world where the basic needs of people are addressed with loving care. No war. No violence." — Bill Doby

"Nonviolence is something you practice, and the power behind it is not weapons, but the support of the people." — Rev. Gene Smith		"There is a hope for the existing world through non-violence and through the support of the people." — Rev. Gene Smith		"In the next 30 years we can destroy our world. We have seen the nuclear warheads that are being built. Our mission is to serve as a catalyst for non-violence in our world, to bring a non-violent path to the rest of our world." — Barbara Wainwright		"I think we brought to the world, the United States story, the whole idea of bringing on a nonviolent path. I think we showed the world that nonviolence can work to make social change." — Dolores Huerta		"There is the alternative to war, and nonviolence should be seen as the antidote to violence, not simply as the opposite. Nonviolence is more concerned with ending the war, ending the war." — Jesse Jackson
